Why I Love This Space?

With an eye for blending interesting design elements from all over the world, Westport, Connecticut designer, Lynne Scalo has once again produced a design masterpiece. Scalo, whose projects have taken her around the globe, has built a reputation for creating sophisticated living spaces that are both soothing and dramatic, yet always with a nod to comfort.

Neutral walls provide the perfect backdrop for a mixture of textures and finishes in this light infused Greenwich living room. Opposing white sofas upholstered in crisp white fabric surround a large scale contemporary coffee table which appears to float between them. A crystal chandelier hangs above the table and pairs nicely with an exotic armoire, adding a bit of sparkle to the room. Tapered transitional sconces cast a subtle glow upon the modern style portrait above the mantel. The mirrored wall surrounding the mantel seems to lift the eye up and further reflects light within the room. Like gently swirling bubbles, the circular design of the carpet seems to pull you through the room to a pair of botanically inspired side chairs placed in front of the fireplace. With legs that mimic the curvilinear pattern in the rug, they appear to bloom before your eyes.

Classic elegance with a modern twist, this room invites all to stay.
